25X1 4. [] Talked with Robert Smart and briefed him on my conversation with Representative Paul J. Kilday. I mentioned again the desire of the Director to meet with the CIA Subcommittee of House Armed Services as soon as convenient with the Subcommittee. Mr. Smart pointed out that the CIA Subcommittee has not yet been constituted by this Congress but this matter is in his mind as well as Mr. Kilday's mind.

I also discussed with Mr. Smart the proposed legislation prepared by the National Security Agency, indicating that we took no position on sections 1 and 2 but that we did understand and support sections 3, 4, and 5. Mr. Smart said those three sections standing alone possibly could raise the question of jurisdiction with the Post Office and Civil Service Committees and, therefore, exploratory work should be done with those two Committees. Without making any commitment, Mr. Smart appeared to sympathize with the last three sections which deal with termination authority, appointment authority, and exemption from the Performance Rating Act.

25X1 5. [] Sam Crosby, House Appropriations Committee, telephoned to advise the Chairman had signed the letter to the Agency on the termination pay and arrangements were made for us to pick it up on Monday morning.

25X1 6. [] Jay Sourwine, Counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, called to ask if "they would gum up the works" if they held hearings on the []
25X1 After checking with [] WH, I advised Sourwine that on his general question we could see no problems from our standpoint.
